If You Know You Know podcast

This case on Shirley (Tippy) McBride is an unresolved missing person case in our home state capital Concord, New Hampshire. We were specifically interested in familiarizing ourselves with this case because it is a bizarre turn of events that led to a fifteen year old girl falling through the cracks of the 1984 justice system. This case and many other cold cases heavily rely on citizen sleuths and advocating for those who no longer can advocate for themselves which is where we emphasize the importance of those assets to cold case resolution.
